

National Aerospace Laboratories

Class Restricted

No. of copies 30

Title Shaping Analysis for Radar Cross Section (RCS) Reduction for Missiles

Author/s Dr Rakesh Mohan Jha

Division ALD

NAL Project No.

Document No. PP AL 9303

Date of issue September 93

Contents Pages Figures Tables References

External Participation

Sponsor AR&DB

Approval

Remarks

Keywords Stealth Design for Missiles. Radar Cross Section (RCS) studies, Geometrical Theory of Diffraction (GTD), Computational Electromagnetics

Abstract A broadband RCS reduction study is proposed based on shaping considerations. Geodesic Constant Method (GCM) developed by the author is proposed to be applied in conjunction with the GTD for application to hybrid surfaces, modelling the missiles.